FIVE BIG DELUSIONS

An illustration of a broken television set. The screen is shattered, with a jagged crack running diagonally. Inside the screen, a tiger is visible, looking out. A small yellow mouse is sitting on the floor in front of the television, looking up at it. The background is dark and textured.

The Big Book is very specific about the delusional nature of the alcoholic who enters the rooms of A.A. How many of us maintain these delusions even into our sobriety? At this workshop you will learn what the book says the "Five Big Delusions" are and how to recognize them in your daily life.

There is no cost for this event although your voluntary contribution is welcomed to help cover the lunch and refreshments that will be served.
